

Figure 5.2: Different seismic data-processing procedures give different results for the same dataset, profile G2. (A) Processing result from Blits (2008). (B) Processing result from current study. Subtle bedrock reflector at 500 ms was lost because of processing artifact, and this gives an indication of what happens to the inherent near-surface weak reflectors.